Mass for Deceased Brothers

On 12 November the Mass for Deceased Salisbury Brothers was held at the 10:00am Mass at St Gregory's Church. There was a good turnout of Brothers, Wives and Widows. Afterwards we joined Parishioners for Tea and Biscuits in St Gregory's Hall. Some of our group then enjoyed a Fish & Chips lunch in town.

Presentation of the Catenian Cup, at St Josephs Catholic School

President Kevin Lynn, along with Brothers Steve Carrivick & Albert Rhodes had the pleasure of attending the "Year 22 Presentation for the Class of '25", including the award of the Catenian Cup. The following is the text of the presentation speech to the winner of the Catenian Cup.

Tonight, we are delighted to present the Catenians Cup, an award given to a student who has shown an outstanding commitment to living out Catholic Social Teaching in both their studies and their daily life here at St Joseph's. This year's recipient, Maria Tony, has consistently demonstrated compassion, integrity, and a deep sense of justice. Through her work and her example, she has shown what it truly means to recognise the dignity of every person, to care for the vulnerable, and to build a community rooted in faith and service. Maria has not only excelled in her learning—she has lived the values we cherish. She reminds us all that Catholic education calls us to action, to kindness, and to hope.

"The 12 days of Christmas" is a particularly raucous, energetic and fun renditioning. We will be having a raffle which following this year's very successful "Mission to Malta" project, will go to support a repeat venture in April 2026 when another group of our military veterans will travel to Malta to undertake restoration work at Fort Delimara.

Poets Corner

By Brother Eric

A Seasonal contribution from Brother Eric. This will be the last of Brother Eric's contributions to our monthly Newsletter for the time being. However he will no doubt make the occasional contribution from time to time.

December

Try not to think, draw down the blinds, close Off the murmurings of memory, suppose Nothing. Hush now, still now, on this breath, Let us stay here, stopped in simulated death.

On the 4th Sunday in Advent

Another week passed an extra candle tenderly lit our focus tapers toward the imagined spark
to ignite revolution

again as thank God
it will each year
as the drear days
slacken as the nights
nudge toward midwinter's

pause on the pivot
of change for the annual renewal of expectancy
the long- rehearsed anticipation's reward of a baby's first gasping cry bursting into flame :

the breath of light
at last risen as the Son kindles joy in beams of love.

From Darkness To Light

We look from afar in search of God's power, waiting for candle flames to kindle hope's spreading fire, the touch of a taper to catch our chilled souls in a leap of inspiration, watch our fears and failures flicker in the silent progress of unfolding light. Afar yet so close, we thousand onlookers peer through the blackout to discern a glimmer of faith's faltering feel beyond blindness stand tall, stretch up and out, clasp winter's icy clutch in the close embrace of love come here tonight to unite us with the disparate deceased; their shadows emerge from the arching transepts of centuries of unceasing worship to re-engage, renew this ageless ritual that transcends the desperation of war's ravenous desolation, holds us with the grieving in breathless wonder,

at one in the choir's lifted voice, the organ's thunder.

From A Chaplet of Joy

The Annunciation (Lk 1:30-33,38)

With Gabriel, we watch as you receive this amazing mystery
In words whose message will change your life to bring us hope When God enters you to conceive an altered history.

Your answer shows us your trust : you are not afraid, But open to God's surprises, readily reply: "Let it be With me according to your will, for I am your handmaid".

Sweet Mary of Nazareth, I pray that I may follow you:
May I truly let God into my life, be ready to answer His call.
Please help me find your faith in His strength to serve as you do.

The Visitation (Lk 1:39-47)

With Elizabeth, we bless you as she receives your greeting :
You bring in your womb God's gift of joy that lets the babe
In her womb leap in delight : we rejoice with you, meeting

Your love as you worship our Saviour and sing to us in bliss, Praising and thanking Him for His infinite mercy, sharing Your heartfelt gratitude for His wonderful gift of happiness.

Dear Mary, I pray that I may always thank Him too!
"My soul magnifies the Lord" must be my motto. How Happy to be thankful for every day's gifts – like you!

The Birth of Jesus (Lk 2:6-12)

With the shepherds, we kneel in awe before Christ's birth.
The light of God's grace dazzles the dark winter night :
God comes to us as your baby, vulnerable on this earth;

Life's meaning cradled in a stable in the warmth of your breast,
The immensity of God's powerful love and mercy given for us.
Mary, our mother, protect and comfort us, bring peace and rest.

We marvel at the miracle of our Father's tender love, not apart
But here, all-powerful yet poor and small like one of us.
May I keep watch with you, thank Him from the depths of my heart.

December Morning

The restless river reaches out, soaks the drooping branches,
searches up the bridged arches.

I think of hope nourished by faith, the psalmist's images, happiness like a river, or a tree planted by flowing waters.

Bedraggled, faded, forgotten, rows of faded pansies are roused to tremble in this moist murmur stirring memories with this autumn's abandoned leaves, soon suddenly sinks to a drone beneath duetting trebles, sparring robins spanning the river's restless rampant pursuit, sweet piercing snatches of melody matching strength, asserting belief, echoes to challenge, resound through winter's bitter threat, encourage the blessed promise of survival, a summer perhaps that I may share.
